The Coalinga field proper lies north of Waltham creek, and is actually developed and producing oil over a distance of 15 miles north and south, and over a width varying from 1 to 2 miles. The stretch of country south of the Jacalitos creek, to the Antelope valley, 32 miles long, will be herein referred to as the Kreyenhagen field. In this field development is in progress, and numerous investments have been made. Until last fall the only publication treating of the geology of this region was: A Stratigraphic Study in the Mount Diablo Range of California, by P. M. Anderson, Proceedings of the California Academy of Science. 3rd. series. Vol. II, No. 2. In this treatise nothing, however, was stated regarding the occurrence of oil. The U. S. Geological Survey has made an examination of...
