Sheridan, our commander, as the battle of Opequan, to distinguish it from previous contests around Winchester, restored the lower Valley of Virginia to Union control, from which it was never again wrested; it permanently relieved Maryland and Pennsylvania from the periodical invasions to which they had been subjected during three years, and the national capitol from further humiliations. Beautiful to look upon, and so fertile, that it was styled the granary of Virginia; rich in its well-filled barns, its cattle, its busy mills, the Shenandoah Valley furnished from its abundant crops much of the subsistence of the Rebel army.
