By Christoph-Friedrich von Braun

Prentice Hall. Paperback. Book Condition: New. Paperback. 304 pages. Dimensions: 8.8in. x 6.0in. x 0.5in. Presents a revolutionary view of product development: more R and D and faster product cycles are not necessarily better. Makes the case that business R and D has come to resemble a military arms race where all other values, including the long-term health of the enterprise itself, are sacrificed. Presents cases where customers cannot accept innovation at the rate it is being delivered. Describes how to escape the acceleration trap and evaluate R and D more critically. Strategic planners, R and D managers, senior corporate executives, consultants, business school faculty and students. This item ships from multiple locations.
