Excerpt: .the note as to the amount, and in not stating that it was indorsed by the defendants jointly. The court say: It is well settled, in accordance with good sense, that an immaterial variance in the notice will not vitiate it. The variance must be such as that, under the circumstances of the case, the notice conveys no sufficient knowledge to the indorsers of the identity of the particular note which has been dishonored. Now, having the accessory facts, namely, that this was the only note in this bank drawn by S. Warden and indorsed by the defendants, and the intimation conveyed by the figures 600 upon the margin of the notice, who can doubt but that this notice conveyed to the minds of the defendants the information that this identical note had been dishonored, although it misdescribed the note as it respects the sum...
